

supporting employers

The National Careers Service London is here to support all employers currently furloughing staff, recruiting staff to essential roles or having to make workers redundant.

The National Careers Service offers free, impartial careers advice and guidance, delivered by qualified Careers Advisers. We can support your employees flexibly, according to your individual needs, and you will receive an individual service level agreement.

Our support could include offering 1:1 support directly to your furloughed workers; providing experienced careers advisers to support those being made redundant; working with staff who are recruiting to essential areas to understand their skills needs and requirements; matching employees to new jobs in sectors experiencing demand; identifying suitable individuals who are available and ready to start work; running a Training Needs Analysis (TNA) of your existing workforce; or providing recommendations and support with future recruitment, training needs and planning for the next stage.

contact us

National Careers
Service

Helping you take the next step

If you are interested in working with the National Careers Service in London to support your furloughed or at risk staff, please send your name, job title, contact details and a brief summary of your organisation's situation to

NCSBookings@prospects.co.uk

Or call 020 3714 8350

We can help your employees:

Adapt to new ways of working and communicating utilising various digital platforms

Learn about the different types of job application techniques

Develop strong interview skills

Identify existing skillsets and transferable skills using assessments

Recognise skills gaps and understand how to fill them using online learning

Find essential and keyworker vacancies, and volunteering opportunities

Source additional services for support including wellbeing and mental health, financial support and